PNB Office Interiors Achieves WELL Platinum Certification, the Largest WELL Platinum Project in Southeast Asia

Kuala Lumpur, 28 April 2026 — Permodalan Nasional Berhad (PNB) has achieved WELL Certification at the Platinum level for its office interiors under the internationally recognised WELL Standard,[™] awarded by the International WELL Building Institute (IWBI), the global authority for transforming health and well-being in buildings, organizations and communities. This milestone marks the largest WELL Platinum certified office interiors project in Southeast Asia.

The certification was delivered in collaboration with PNB's key sustainability partners, JLL Sustainability Consulting and Airscan Malaysia, reflecting a shared commitment to advancing workplace health and environmental performance in line with global standards. The certification also complements the WELL Core Platinum Certification Menara Merdeka 118 achieved, the building that houses PNB's headquarters. Recognised as the tallest building in the world to receive WELL Core Certification at the Platinum level, the tower establishes a strong foundation for a workplace environment designed to prioritise health, wellbeing and sustainability.

The WELL Standard is a globally recognised framework composed of evidence-based strategies that support the health and wellbeing of organizations and their people across 10 concepts: air, water, nourishment, light, movement, thermal comfort, sound, materials, mind and community. Achieving WELL Certification at the Platinum level, the highest level of certification, requires comprehensive documentation, independent on-site testing and rigorous performance verification to ensure that workplace environments meet measurable health and wellbeing criteria.

WELL Certification at the Platinum level reinforces the position of PNB as an employer that prioritises employee health and wellbeing, while embedding global best practices into workplace design and operations. It also underscores PNB's role as a corporate leader championing sustainable and people-centric environments that support employee engagement, collaboration and productivity. This certification aligns with PNB's broader sustainability and human capital agenda, reinforcing its commitment to advancing social sustainability as a core pillar of long-term value creation.

Dato' Rick Ramli, Deputy President & Group Chief Executive of PNB, said, "Achieving WELL Platinum marks an important milestone in PNB's journey to institutionalise health and wellbeing within our workplace strategy. As the largest WELL Platinum Certified office interiors project in Southeast Asia, this achievement reflects our commitment to setting a benchmark for corporate Malaysia, where organisational performance and employee wellbeing go hand in hand.”

Jack Noonan, Senior Vice President and Head of Asia Pacific at IWBI, congratulated PNB on the milestone. "What PNB has achieved here is more than just a facilities milestone; it is a clear signal to the market that health is now a competitive differentiator. By achieving the highest level of WELL Certification for the largest project of its kind in the region, PNB has rooted its organisational foundation in health and wellbeing as paramount for employees, with benefits to the bottom line at an incredible scale. Congratulations, PNB, on this significant achievement.”
